NOTES & NEWS

A Savings Game

Make a game out of collecting loose change and bills. Coins and paper money have years printed on them, indicating either when the coin was minted or when the bill's design was adopted. Pick a year with meaning to you, such as a birth year or anniversary, and watch for that year on change you get back when spending cash. Anything with your chosen year gets set aside in a rainy day fund or as "fun money."

Letting Go

Many people hold on to things just because they paid a lot for them. To help you let go of items you no longer need, ask yourself this question: "How much is it worth to me today?" If the item doesn't have a high value in your life now, then it isn't worth keeping, regardless of the original price.

Small Supper, Better Sleep

Heavier meals take longer to digest, which can keep you up at night. Sleep more soundly by having a hearty breakfast and lunch, then enjoying a light supper.

Thinking of Mom

Mother's Day is the time to give thanks to moms, grandmothers and other special women in our lives. If cards and flowers aren't your style, there are plenty of other ways to show your appreciation. Share a list of favorite memories, make her a playlist of meaningful songs, treat her to an at-home spa day, or bake her a batch of cookies. Whatever you do, she will cherish the fact you thought of her.

Alert for Allergy Weather

It's the season for allergies. Local weather forecasts often include pollen counts. But if you miss those numbers, you can still be prepared with a do-it-yourself weather check. Expect symptoms to flare up when it's windy, warm and dry. During rainy weather and breeze-free days, the pollen level will likely be lower.

Conservation Comebacks

For over 50 years, the Endangered Species Act has helped make the world a safer place for thousands of wild plants and animals. The third Friday of May is Endangered Species Day, a time to take part in conservation efforts and be inspired by these success stories:

Bald eagle. Habitat loss, illegal hunting and the use of pesticides had reduced this majestic bird's numbers to less than 500 breeding pairs in the contiguous U.S. by 1963. Today, more than 300,000 bald eagles soar across our nation's skies.

American alligator. The tale of this reptile is sure to put a toothy grin on your face. After more than 200 million years of inhabiting the Earth, the American alligator faced extinction in the mid-1900s. Thanks to protection laws and breeding programs, the gators bounced back and were removed from the endangered species list in only two decades.

Grizzly bear. Before 1800, around 50,000 grizzly bears roamed across America's wilderness. But by 1975, less than 800 bears remained. The creation of six recovery zones has helped grizzlies reach a stable population of 1,900 bears and counting.

Humpback whale. The whaling industry almost brought the population of these massive singing mammals screeching to a halt. But their numbers have been rebounding in many parts of the world, with an annual growth rate of 8% in the Pacific Northwest.

“Fortunately, nature is amazingly resilient: Places we have destroyed, given time and help, can once again support life, and endangered species can be given a second chance.”
—Jane Goodall

Little Pick-Me-Ups

Whether you want to pamper a loved one or spend some time doing self-care, lots of small treats can make you or someone else feel special in a big way!

Rest. Embrace the freedom of going to bed without setting an alarm, and then sleep in as long as you want. Or carve out some time for an afternoon nap.

Relax in nature. Take advantage of nice weather and spend some time outside. Read a book or magazine, write in a journal or go for a peaceful walk.

Indulge in a treat. Splurge on dessert or a fancy coffee, and then take time to savor it by lingering at the restaurant or taking your treat to a nearby park.

Catch up on entertainment. Devote a day to binge-watching a TV series with no interruptions. Make your environment extra cozy by dressing in your comfiest loungewear and keeping blankets, drinks and snacks within reach.

Have an at-home spa day. Using your most luxurious products, take a long shower or bath, soak your feet, do a facial or sheet mask, and file your nails.

Go window shopping. Either in person or online, browse some of your favorite stores. Make a wish list that you can come back to in the future.

Plan something fun. Create a vision board for a dream vacation or room redesign.

A Tour of American Barbecue

Barbecue is enjoyed throughout the country, but several regions are known for it.

Kansas City. This centrally located metropolis smokes chicken, pork spareribs and beef brisket low and slow. However, it's the thick tomato-based sauce laced with molasses that makes Kansas City's barbecue a go-to American staple. The local specialty, burnt ends, features the sweet, tangy sauce slathered over chopped end pieces of beef brisket and pork shoulder.

Texas. Slow-smoked beef brisket is what's big in Texas. The simply seasoned brisket, pork ribs and link sausages are tasty enough on their own. However, feel free to spice things up with the Lone Star State's thin, vinegary tomato-based sauce.

Memphis. Pork is king in Memphis, where the pit-cooked smoked ribs are served dry or wet. Dry ribs are cooked in a spice rub that often includes chili, onion and garlic powders, plus paprika, oregano and celery seed. Wet ribs come in a thin, zesty tomato-based sauce.

Carolinas. The eastern half of North Carolina goes whole hog—finely chopped and served with a vinegar-based sauce. Head west and you'll find a tomato-based sauce over shredded pork shoulder. South Carolina prefers its barbecued meats served with a tangy concoction of vinegar, mustard and brown sugar.

WIT & WISDOM

Breathe Easier Indoors

On average, we spend nearly 90% of our time inside—so maintaining good indoor air quality is vital to our health and wellbeing. Fortunately, you can take several simple actions to ensure good air quality inside your home.

First, open a window! Even during cooler weather, opening a window for 10 minutes circulates fresh air throughout your space. This is especially important while you're cooking or cleaning. However, keep your windows shut when the outdoor air quality is low.

Staying on top of household chores—particularly dusting, vacuuming and washing your bedding—is a major defense against poor air quality.

Excess moisture encourages mold and mildew growth, which can be the source of many health issues. Clean up spills immediately and properly hang bathroom towels to dry. During humid months, consider using a dehumidifier.

There are several perks to having houseplants in your home, and air quality is one of them! Plants can absorb excess moisture and help filter out irritants. Low-maintenance options include spider plants, snake plants, peace lilies and philodendrons.

Available in a variety of sizes and price ranges, air purifiers can filter out many pollutants and be especially helpful to people with allergies.

One Minute Chef

Cowboy Caviar

Enjoyed as a salsa or a side dish, this flavorful salad is a hit at gatherings.

Salad Ingredients:

- 1 can (15 ounces) sweet corn
- 1 can (15 ounces) black beans
- 1 bunch cilantro
- 3 Roma tomatoes
- 2 jalapeños
- 1/2 red onion
- 2 bell peppers, any color

Dressing Ingredients:

- 1/3 cup olive oil
- 1/3 cup red wine vinegar
- 1 tablespoon honey
- 1 tablespoon paprika
- Juice of 1 lime
- Salt and pepper, to taste

Directions:

Drain and rinse corn and black beans. Mix in a large bowl.

Finely chop cilantro, tomatoes, jalapeños, onion and bell peppers. Add them to the corn and beans.

In a small bowl, combine dressing ingredients.

Pour dressing over the vegetables and gently stir to combine all ingredients.

Serve as a salad or a dip with tortilla chips.
