Thank You, Veterans

There are more than 20 million veterans in America. Honor those who have served on Veterans Day, Nov. 11.

NOTES & NEWS

3 Things You Need To Know

Use the beautiful bounty of nature to decorate your home for fall.

1) Hollow out colorful gourds and turn them into vases to display flowers and greenery.

2) Show off bittersweet berries in tinted bottles on a windowsill or shelf.

3) Arrange persimmons and pomegranates in a pretty bowl or stacked on a cake stand.

Reduce, Reuse, Recycle

Friends and family typically get together during the holiday season, and these gatherings often involve food preparation. If you are going to have a home full of guests and an oven on, turn down the thermostat a few degrees to conserve energy.

'Sesame Street' Turns 50

On Nov. 10, 1969, a groundbreaking children's TV series starring both people and puppets debuted on public television. Today, "Sesame Street" has an audience of 150 million kids worldwide and remains a beloved childhood memory for many adults.

Wild World: Dormouse

When asked to name a sleepy animal, the image of a curled-up dormouse may come to mind. These tiny rodents begin hibernating in the fall and typically don't emerge until six months later—and sometimes longer! During the summer, the nocturnal critters prep for their long nap by feasting on berries, nuts and flowers. Though they are skilled at climbing and spend much of their time in trees, dormice often make their nests on the forest floor, hidden by bark and leaves. The nearly 30 species of dormice are found throughout Europe, Africa and Asia. In the U.K., the hazel dormouse is a protected species.

Thanksgiving Bells

The song "Jingle Bells" probably brings to mind snowy wintertime fun, but the original 1857 tune was actually written to be sung on Thanksgiving.
